About

Andrew Dominic Furniture was established in 2009 by British furniture designer-maker Andrew Dominic and his South African wife Susie. We are a team of highly skilled craftsmen with workshops in Cape Town, South Africa where the business began, and in the United Kingdom, where Andrew grew up and they now live with their family – taking his journey and love of wood full circle back to his roots in Devon.

With an engineering background and love of the sea, Andrew found his passion for working with wood on classic yachts in the Mediterranean. He honed his skills at Rowden Atelier where he learnt the fine art of furniture making and his interest in design began.

Today, Andrew heads the team and workshops, alongside designing all of our collections and bespoke commissions. Susie manages client communications and art direction of the business. Andrew's style of furniture embodies a deep love and understanding of the intricacies and diversity of wood, and embraces the hand-crafted nature of joinery. His passion for craftsmanship and eye for detail is instilled in each maker who undergo a rigorous apprenticeship with us, ensuring his commitments to quality and craft are embedded in every piece of furniture we make.

Our team has been taught and guided by Andrew over the last 15 years, many of whom have been with us since our story began. We invest 2 years into initial apprenticeships, but see training as an ongoing and continuous process as we develop new products and push the boundaries of specifications.

We have a responsible and sustainable approach at the heart of our business. We work in an industry that has a direct impact on the environment, so it is our responsibility to make sure that our impact is a positive one — not only for the sake of our business, but the planet we live on. Sustainability isn't a destination but a process of learning and improving, which we take to heart in our work.

- We only use select hardwoods from sustainably managed forests
- We only use natural oil finishes and water based glues
- We are close to creating a zero carbon footprint in our workshops
- We manage our wood waste by composting it, adding it back into the natural life cycle

If you would like to learn more about us, have an enquiry about any of our Collection products, would like to commission a bespoke project please get in touch.

Rose Bay Residence, Sydney

Interior by Jacket Curated. Photography by Dave Wheeler.

Kent Road is a complete refurbishment, refurnishing and renewal of an existing Georgian-style home in Sydney's Eastern Suburbs. The original building had good bones but lacked abundant natural light and required some smart replanning to best support contemporary family living.

Interior designers Jacket Curated collaborated with Molnar Architects to honour the character of the original home by retaining the footprint of the home's foundations but layering it with a restrained contemporary palette that when furnished with custom and collection pieces by artisanal makers, gave it great warmth without sacrificing sophistication.

Our Eve Table in Oak Natural features as the main dining table, with Ivor Barstools in ebonised Oak lined up at the kitchen island. The main bedroom features our Ivor Bench upholstered in client's own fabric at the foot of the bed.

Customised Franc Server in oiled Walnut

Seaview Villa, Devon

Interior by Pernille Lind Studio.

We worked closely with Pernille Lind Studio to make bespoke furniture pieces, alongside favourite designs from our own Furniture Collections, for a coastal residential project in South Devon. The aim of the full renovation, was to create a contemporary seaside retreat which incorporated Scandinavian design aesthetics. From interior joinery, ottomans and play beds, to tables for dining indoors and outdoors, it was an honour to make furniture for such a beautiful home.

The Ivor Table in oiled Oak with CH23 Carl Hansen chairs feature in the dining area, chosen for their understated silhouettes that create an elegant and natural aesthetic. We created the fluted solid oak panelling above a pair of bespoke bedside tables, for the master bedroom that also featured a Franc Ottoman in Walnut Natural and walnut Ivor Console Table.

Coastal Bunker, Cape Town

Photography by Greg Cox.

A double-storey Seaside Bunker with its clean-lined, mid-century feel was newly built just steps from the ocean and tucked into fynbos, in a holiday hamlet on the pristine shores of Walker Bay near Cape Town. A home designed for open-plan pleasure that maximises on an abundance of natural light, location and honesty to materials.

We loved making the Ivor Oval Table in Oak Natural and generous Ivor Bench upholstered in Moroccan Green leather for the dining area upstairs, with a customised Manu Server in ebonised Oak to serve as a drinks cabinet. The thoughtful use of warm oak furniture and fresh green tones continues downstairs in the hallway with an Ivor Console Table in Oak Natural.

Despite its laid-back aesthetic, this Seaside Bunker combines its ideal situation with context-driven, clean-lined architecture and interiors.
